IT'S SOCIAL PARITY THAT'S HARDEST TO REACH, SAYS WILL

(Special To The News)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 9.

—It looks like we are going to get disarmament, but I want to tell you we are paying dearly for it, for after all

it's a question if it's not better to have a big navy, lots of taxes, and get social peace

in Washington than no navy,

no taxes, yet not enough

seats at the right of the president to go round.

So Premier MacDonald and his charming, no-smoking, no-

roughing daughter have brought peace to the world, but they have unconsciously unleashed

the social hounds of war, and now it's death to the poor devil

who has to seat 'em.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New noted that the curb lights on the public square have been tinted yellow. The work was done in celebration of the golden jubilee of the invention of electric light. Pa New also noted last night that a considerable number of the curb lights further up Washington street were not burning. There seems to be something the matter with the curb lighting system, as very frequently the lights are not burning, except in spots.

Pa New enters a claim for fame this morning. Years ago Pa New sat in the grandstand at Cleveland and saw Ethie, the pitcher who let Chicago down with 13 strikeouts in the world's series game yesterday, make his debut in the big league. He was pitching against Cleveland for the Detroit Tigers at that time.

Again New Castle supremacy. We even have the best jails. Sheriff Reynolds' bastille was chosen by two prisoners as their abode for six months, when given a chance to do their selecting in the federal court in Pittsburgh yesterday. These veterans had experienced the jail routine in Erie, Pittsburgh and New Castle.

Dear Sir:—

We note you are still giving the frost credit for the coloring and tinting of the leaves on the trees and shrubbery.

Believe it or not, but science teaches us that the autumn tints of foliage are not due to chilly nights, but that when the foliage reaches a certain stage, they undergo a change which involves a slight fermentation. Alcohol is thereby developed, and it is this, not frost, that causes the change in color.

Respectfully,

CHARLES E. STREB.

Crowds watching the Chicago-Philadelphia world series game at The News on Tuesday were rather non-plussed. The succession of strike-outs in the game didn't appear like a world series. It was realized however that a game of many years was being witnessed. And when it was over, another world series record had been hung up, thirteen strikeouts on one side.

Night football is to be started at Cleveland, Ohio, Friday night. John Carroll is inaugurating the plan at Luna Park stadium. By a coincidence another Grove City team is to take part in the inaugural. In New Castle the first place in this section to try night football, Grove City High school was the first opponent. In Cleveland, Friday night, Grove City college will be the initial opponent under the flood lights.

Here in New Castle the first day-light game will take place this week. (Continued On Page Two)

To Explain Bond Issue Projects In Series Of Articles In News As Prepared By City Solicitor

Starting today, The News is beginning a series of articles relating to the five year bond issue improvement program that is to come before the voters at the November election.

The articles were prepared by City Solicitor Robert M. White, with the aim of setting forth the facts concerning each item to be voted on at the election.

Mr. White did not prepare the articles with the idea of influencing voters, but because of the repeated declaration that citizens do not know what the bond issue is about. The articles are presented with the aim of setting forth the conditions in each item, giving the voters the facts, and the occasion for asking for the action.

The city solicitor also announced that he will be willing to attempt to answer all questions concerning the projected issue that are asked in good faith.

Here is the first article, discussing the first item to be voted on in the bond issue election. The others will follow daily.

Question One: Shall the indebtedness of the City of New Castle be increased in the sum of one hundred thousand ($100,000) dollars for the purpose of improving the public park system and acquiring additional lands for park purposes?

The city now owns the following park lands:

Gaston Park
Along Wilson avenue in the Fifth ward containing 27 acres. This is a large wood lot, rich in natural beauty, but entirely undeveloped. It is accessible from Arlington avenue, a paved street, but has no roads or driveways into the park itself. The engineers of the department of municipalities of the state have made a complete survey of this park and have laid out a complete plan for its development. The plan calls for roads and parking places and provides for a base ball diamond, tennis courts and other places for games and sports. If money is provided, the city proposes to carry out this plan of development. Some grading will be necessary in places, the underbrush will be cleared away and the whole park made available for use by the public.

Dean Park
This land lies between Taylor street and Pearson street in the Fourth ward and contains 3 1/2 acres. It was formerly a swampy but has been filled up almost to the level of the surrounding territory. The city has bought the land between it and Taylor street, so that it is easily accessible. By grading it and planting grass seed and putting in proper drains, it can be made useful and beautiful. Being centrally situated, it would make an excellent place for (Continued On Page Two)

Temporary Halt For Fall Trial In Washington

Former Secretary Of Interior Is "Very Sick Man" Attorney Asserts

DOCTOR ORDERED

Aged Defendant Is Charged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The trial of Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of Interior, on charges of bribery came to at least a temporary halt today when the aged defendant, who collapsed in court yesterday, failed to rally sufficiently to leave his bed.

Justice William Hitz, advised by counsel at the opening of court of Fall's condition, promptly appointed Dr. Stirling Ruffin, prominent local physician, to make an examination of the defendant in behalf of the court.

Orders Examination
Frank J. Hogan, chief defense counsel, stepped to the bar with the announcement of his client's illness immediately upon the convening hour.

"Have you any suggestions?" asked Hitz.

"No," replied Hogan.

"Then I think I shall appoint a physician of standing and reputation to examine him," the justice said.

"Has Dr. Stirling Ruffin any connection with this case?"

Upon being answered in the negative, Hitz said he would ask Ruffin to get in touch with Falls' doctor at once, "calling in a third if deemed advisable."

In Very Sick Man
Dr. H. T. Safford, Fall's doctor reported that there was a recurrence of the coughing of blood this morning. Falls' temperature is still up also and his resiliency seemingly is gone. Only (Continued On Page Two)

LEGION CONFERS HIGHEST HONOR ON FRED L. RENTZ

Distinguished Service Certificate Is Presented With Ceremony Tuesday

Recognizes Service To Ex-Servicemen Here—Officers Are Installed

Hon. Fred L. Rentz, president of The News Co., was accorded the highest honor which the American Legion can bestow on civilians, when he was presented with the American Legion Distinguished Service Certificate at ceremonies held in connection with the regular meeting of the Perry S. Gaston Post in the Legion Home Association Building last evening.

Presentation of the certificate which had been handsomely framed by the post was made by Major Guy J. Wadlinger in behalf of the Perry S. Gaston Post.

In his remarks Major Wadlinger stressed the invaluable aid that Mr. Rentz has always rendered the Perry S. Gaston Post, personally, and through the news columns of his paper and through the advertising columns, stating that he has always been more than ready to do anything asked to further the cause of the ex-servicemen.

Mr. Rentz in reply stated that he has always felt that the needs of the ex-servicemen have always stood first with him.

"When I see so many of you men seated around me here who have done so much more for your country than I have, I hardly feel this honor is due me," he stated. "I do feel however, that the honor which you have bestowed upon me this evening shows in a substantial way that you do appreciate me and I want to assure this post and all veterans, that they will never be turned away in any favors which they may ask of me. You can have anything you want that I am able to give. I esteem this one of the greatest honors that has ever been conferred upon me and will try at all times to live up to it."

Numerous Guests.
There was quite a distinguished gathering present for the presentation ceremonies, including Judges R. L. Hildebrand and James A. Chambers, Mayor Gillespie, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, James W. Cole and several others all of whom were asked to make a few remarks and who responded to the occasion.

Judge Hildebrand stated that he felt the post had done itself honor in selecting Mr. Rentz as the first person in the county to receive this honor. He stated that Mr. Rentz always stood out in the forefront in all civic affairs and has never quit anything that he has undertaken.

"I think this honor is coming," (Continued On Page Five)

Weather Cloudy In Chicago, Today, For Second Series Game

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Chicago, gone completely baseball, looked skyward, at dawn today to see an overcast sky scowling threat of rain.

Meteorologists could offer little hope for the official forecast, told of increasing cloudiness as the day wears along toward the 1:30 game time.

"Increasing cloudiness Wednesday, showers Wednesday night; and probably on Thursday; not much change in temperature; gentle to moderate winds, mostly east to southeast," was the text of the forecast.

WRIGLEY FIELD, CHICAGO.

Ill., Oct. 9.—The annual circus, known as the World series, went into winter quarters for the second game of the event between the Philadelphia Athletics and the Chicago Cubs this afternoon, the mercury squalling the Cubs' winning average so far, which was somewhere around zero or less.

The Athletics stole the show in yesterday's premier with the astonishing Mr. Ethie as master of ceremonies, but today it looked like old man Boreas, the blizzard, would be the logical winner.

It couldn't have been more than forty degrees in the shade an hour or so before game time and there wasn't anything but shade on the premises. The sun had gone into hiding, apparently for the afternoon, and so had the sepias that blew it off Lake Michigan. Most of them had gone into hiding under the writers' arm pit.

50,000 Attend

But in spite of the weather and in spite of the fact that the Cubs blew harder yesterday than the wind did today, Chicago responded to the occasion with another bumper crowd of more than 50,000 frigid souls and they whooped it up for their favorite club as only an inspired Chicago crowd can do.

They were pulling for an even break in the series by nightfall and those sterling lads who occupied the bleachers after occupying their own feet for most of the night outside the gates, went crazy when the Cubs stalked out on the field for preliminary warm up at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

Intensive Hunt Being Made For Passenger Plane

Plane With Pilot And Four

PLANE STARTED OUT SATURDAY

(International News Service)
SASKATOON, Sask., Oct. 9.—The barren Montreal Lake region today continued to hide the fate of the Cherry Red Airlines plane and its pilot and four passengers missing since Saturday.

The plane left Christopher Lake Saturday morning bound for Lac La Ronge. It has not been heard from since it disappeared into the north.

Rumors the plane made a forced landing on Montreal Lake were found groundless and increased fears for pilot Alva Malone and his passengers, a missionary with his wife and two children.

Most of the aircraft in this country is at present engaged in a search for the lost McAlpine aerial exploration party, but the Western Canada Airways have loaned the Cherry Red lines two planes to aid in the search. Malone's projected flight was to cover only 175 miles.

MacDonald Replies To Rotary Club Telegram

Replying to a telegram which the New Castle Rotary club wired to him on his arrival in New York City, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald of England, hurried his acknowledgments in a letter which reached President F. L. Burton yesterday.

The letter written on official paper, underneath the seal of Great Britain, read as follows:

Dear Sir:

The Prime Minister asks me to thank you most cordially for your kind message, which he was delighted to receive, and to add that the numerous expressions of friendship and good will which he is receiving in the United States

British Premier To Hold Two

Famous Statesman And

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—This was Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's last day in the Capital before he departs for Philadelphia, New York and Canada.

Although his peace mission was virtually concluded as far as official negotiations were concerned there were two final conferences with President Hoover on the day's schedule.

The British Premier was to meet the President in the morning to "mop up" the discussions concerning Anglo-American amity. Items considered likely that the President and the Prime Minister would exchange final views on such subjects as war debts, naval bases and violations of the prohibition law at sea.

Complete Accord

As far as the coming disarmament conference in London it was understood that the two statesmen had reached a complete accord.

The last meeting of the President and the Prime Minister in the evening was to be of a sentimental nature in which the Chief Executive was to bid the visiting Labor Premier a cordial farewell.

With the official publishing of the text of the disarmament invitations, the peace task of the Prime Minister was interpreted as having ended. From now on his sojourn in the country will be more social than diplomatic.

Diplomatic Dinner
The Prime Minister and his daughter, Isabel, slept an hour later than usual following a day of intensive entertainment climaxed by a brilliant diplomatic dinner given by Sir Esme Howard, Ambassador from Great Britain, at the British Embassy.

The function was marked by the brilliant uniforms of the members of the diplomatic corps, most of whom wore their colorful decorations and orders. The affair was almost entirely official with members of the supreme court, cabinet and congress in attendance. A reception, with six hundred guests invited, followed the dinner.

Among those present were Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Mrs. Stimson, Secretary of the Treasury (Continued On Page Two)

Washington Girl Is Strangled To Death By Lover

Jealousy And Liquor Attributed To Murder In Capital Hotel Room

GIRL IS DAUGHTER OF OIL CITY MAN

"I Killed My Sweetheart" Is Startling Message To Hotel Room Clerk

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—

A tragedy of jealousy and liquor was revealed early today with the finding of the body of a pretty twenty-three year old girl strangled to death by her sweetheart, in a room in the Hotel Roosevelt.

The girl was Marjorie O'Donnell, an employee of the National Geographic Society here.

Her lover, Dexter Churchill Dayton, of Kansas City, Mo., was arrested and confessed the crime after he had sobbingly telephoned the room clerk "I killed my sweetheart." When police arrived they found Dayton kneeling beside the bed on which the girl lay dead, with his head on her breast. Dayton was a salesman for the Sun Life Insurance Co. here.

Physicians who pronounced the girl dead declared she had been killed sometime yesterday afternoon or evening. It was 3 a. m. today when Dayton telephoned the hotel clerk and presumably he had been in the room supplied by liquor since killing the girl. There were empty liquor bottles in the room.

In Evening Gown

The girl was dressed in an evening gown but her shoes and stockings were off as she lay on the bed. Her face was beaten and finger marks were on her neck. Apparently the murderer had placed her in a "comfortable" position on the bed.

A note written by Dayton and found by the police read in part:

"I am going to kill my sweetheart and then myself. I know I love her—without her love I cannot live."

"We have both deceived each other and hurt one another. Now the liquor is wearing off. I shall begin drinking again and get up enough courage to kill myself."

Police found a pistol fully loaded and a box of cartridges under the mattress which the mar had intended to use on himself, he told them. Dayton, when he sobered up enough, the police say, told them he had registered at the hotel Monday morning and met the girl later by appointment. They had a few drinks and began quarreling about attentions the girl had been receiving from another admirer.

Dayton said although Miss O'Donnell had taken only a few drinks she fell asleep on the bed. He then seized her throat and strangled her. Marks on her knees and body showed she fought for her life. He said he had not relaxed his hold on her throat until he was sure she was dead. Then began his lonely vigil.

They said he was old in the baseball game, and I guess he's been there a while. I said he would crack when the game was midway, that the Cubs would hop on to his style. They said that his arm was about played out, that his curves would be meagre and thin, but that was old Joe who controls the A's. He decided to send him in. Well he didn't crack and he didn't break, and his curve was too much for the Cubs, and he had them scrumping the rusty gate, and they tanned like a lot of dubs. Each inning it seemed this Ethie was better, and better than that for he janned thirteen who he ambled up to the plate with a nest; bat. Yep the boy is old in the baseball game, but he crashed through rather late, but he set them down like a champion, the weather is pretty right.

Industrial Stocks And Specialties Down To Lower Price Levels Today

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor
NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Industrial stocks and specialties settled down to a slightly lower level of prices in a quiet and inactive market today. Left to their own devices, the high prices specialties which have been gradually recuperating from last week's body-blow, dropped off a few points under the effect of the shafts of Bearish sharp-shooters. Losses extended from 2 to 5 points in a number of the well known speculative footballs, wiping out a part of the Saturday-to-Tuesday recovery. Stock sales up to the end of the third hour were running at the rate of a 3,000,000-share day, or about half as large as last Friday. For the first time since August 17, 1928, the call loan rate was marked down to 5 per cent, after money had loaned in the outside market at that rate. Time money worked fractionally lower, to 8 1/2 per cent. According to the Iron Age, the low point in steel demand has been passed, orders for automobile steel having increased in the past week.

Bearish traders put the skids under the high-priced specialties in the early afternoon. Montgomery Ward slipped off 1-2 points to 106 1/2. General Electric dropped 6 1/2 to 349; U. S. Steel broke 217 for a loss of 2 1/2 points; American and Foreign Power was off 3 points at 157 3/4; Consolidated Gas down 3; Atlantic Refining down 2; American International down 2 1/2; International Tel. and Tel. down 3; American Waterworks down 6 and Johns-Manville down 4.

Failure of Westinghouse to agree to playing at night, results in the local high school schedule shifting to an afternoon game this week. No further night games have been scheduled for this season.

School teachers met with residents of the city last night and formulated preliminary plans for the Pennsylvania State Educational association convention which comes here December 28, 27 and 28. More than 50 were in attendance and gave testimony of their personal interest in the meetings which will bring more than 3,000 educational workers to the city.

Seventy years ago oil was first discovered in Pennsylvania by Colonel Edwin L. Drake, near Titusville, according to a memorial note exhibited to Pa. News today by K. W. Miller of 108 Richelieu avenue, this city. Colonel Drake was his great uncle, Mr. Miller was proud to announce. His father's middle name was Drake, in honor of the oil discoverer, he said.

It was stated today at the office of the recreation board, city hall, that equipment used at the various playgrounds has been stored away for the winter. Some of the equipment has been stored at the disposal plant buildings.

"I have nothing to say," he replied to questions asked by reporters. "A lawyer? I don't need one."

The couple registered at the Roosevelt Hotel shortly before noon Monday as "J. H. and R. C. Burton of Baltimore," the police learned. Monday night they went out to a party dressed in evening clothes and hotel attaches told the police Dayton was "very drunk" when they returned at a late hour. Nothing more was heard of them until Dayton gave notice of his act.

Oil City Girl.

Oil City, Pa., Oct. 9.—Marjorie O'Donnell, who was strangled to death in a hotel in Washington, D. C., today, was the daughter of John O'Donnell, editor of the Oil City Derrick.

Miss O'Donnell was formerly a newspaper woman, having been employed for sometime as club editor on the old Pittsburgh Sun. She left that position in August 1927 when the Sun was consolidated with the old Chronicle Telegraph, and accepted a position with the National Geographic Magazine in Washington.

She was a graduate of Seton Hall, a girls' school near Greensburg, Pa., and the Ursula Academy at Pittsburgh.

While in Washington she lived with an older sister, Katherine. Another sister, Margaret, is a student at Holy Cross Academy in Washington.

The father plans to leave Oil City for Washington this afternoon.

The guests were greeted by Sir Esme and Mrs. Howard and then presented to the Prime Minister and his daughter. The rooms of the embassy were decorated with chrysanthemums and dahlias and the orchestra played throughout the evening.

sports and amusements. It is now the burden of trees, but any plan for its development would take that into account. It is planned to have the state engineers lay this park out also and then to follow that plan in improving it.

Jameson Park

This land consists of 7 acres on the Croton side of the Neshannock, above the old coke ovens. The city also owns much of the hillside and narrows on the Neshannock avenue side of the creek. It is intended to have all of this land planned by the state engineers and developed as a park. The creek running thru it and its closeness to Washington street makes it very desirable. The natural beauty of this land is not equalled by the parks of many cities. The land on the hillside contains about 12 acres, so that there are available now for this development a total of 19 acres.

Other Parks
West Side park, 5 acres, just south of Washington street, almost at the end of the street car line.
Greenwood cemetery park, 1/2 an acre
Greenwood park, 8-10 of an acre at Greenwood avenue
Mahoning park on Liberty street, 8-10 acres.
McCleary avenue park, 4-10 acres.
Federal street park, the old golf grounds, 1/2 acre.
Croton avenue park, along creek, 1/2 acre.

Moody Avenue Park
This land consists of 18 lots in front of the new hospital, which the city has undertaken to buy for $10,000. The lots have been appraised at more than $600 each, and the Woman's club have promised to develop the land if the city will buy it, to make a beautiful park in front of the Jameson Memorial hospital, where persons in that institution may look out on green trees and grass in the summer and a restful open space in winter, rather than be shut in by a row of houses.

It has been estimated that $100,000 wisely spent, with community help in doing the work, will give the city a system of beautiful parks in all parts of the city. There are now 58.8 acres of land, wild and undeveloped, bringing no revenue to the city and of no use to the people. The state is ready to furnish all of the assistance necessary to plan and landscape this ground, if the people of the city are willing to spend the money to make this land useful and attractive. If the bonds are approved and issued, the cost will be less than ten cents a thousand on property valuations in taxes. That is, the average home owner, with an assessment of five thousand dollars would have to pay about 50 cents a year in taxes. More will be said later about the costs of these proposed bonds.

STOP SIGNS MEAN STOP

"Unless they desire to make a donation to the city, all motorists should pay strict attention to stop signs that have been placed by the city and the state at the points where streets cross main thoroughfares," remarked Chief of Police C. C. Homer this morning.

"The fine for failure to observe these stop signs is $2 and the police have been instructed to send or bring in all such offenders, regardless of whom they may be," concluded the chief.

Practically all such signs are now up and there is no person who will be able to excuse themselves as they are in accordance with the state regulations and can be seen without trouble.

"He is a very sick man," Safford said.

This termination of one of the last of the criminal cases growing out of the oil scandals of the Harding administration was presaged yesterday during the afternoon session when the ex-cabinet officer began coughing blood. Dr. Safford ordered that he be removed to his hotel at once and so advised the court.

Fall is specifically charged with having accepted a $100,000 bribe from E. L. Doherty, California oil magnate, in exchange for a lease of the Elk Hills Naval Oil Reserve.

SEEK TO IRON OUT OBSTACLES IN WAY OF NAVAL ACCORD

government will be willing, in the interval before the proposed conference to continue informal conversations—on any points which may require elucidation.

Such is the text of the invitation. It constitutes an open bid to the smaller powers to take up their problems with London and Washington, and in consequence the next three months are likely to witness almost constant negotiation of a private nature.

The formal invitations outlined four points upon which Great Britain and the United States have reached substantial agreement, to wit:

1. The desirability and feasibility of further naval curtailment under the Kellogg-Briand treaty outlawing war.

2. Naval parity between Great Britain and the United States to be fully attained in all classes of ships by 1930.

3. Extension of the building holiday in capital ships beyond the date set in the Washington treaty of 1922.

4. Abolition of the submarine as a weapon of war if other powers are agreeable.

Only one of these points offers any prospect of serious disagreement among the powers—that relating to the abolition of undersea craft.

It can be stated now that there is exceedingly little prospect of success on this point.

Japan, France and Italy—but particularly France—regard the submarine as "the poor man's defense" and can be expected to fight the proposal to the last ditch, just as France did in Washington eight years ago. The Germans showed during the world war what submarines could to superior surface sea-power, and all of the smaller powers consider the undersea boat as their "equalizer."

U. S. Indifference.
The position of the American government toward the submarine is one of almost indifference. Favored by geographical isolation, and assured of surface naval power equal to any in the world, the United States is not dependent upon the submarine in any sense, and if the world wants to abolish it this government is willing, or vice versa. It is a British problem, not American.

It was noted with some significance that the conference invitations contained no hint or intimation of extending the naval ratio established at the Washington conference to all classes of ships.

That ratio was fixed as 5 for Great Britain and the United States; 3 for Japan, and 1.6 each for France and Italy.

Needless to say, both Great Britain and the United States would like to see that principle carried forward at London next January and applied to all classes of ships. But there is not much prospect of that, either.

Japan Not Satisfied.
From Tokyo has come repeated intimations that Japan is going into the forthcoming conference prepared to contest for an increased ratio in cruisers and submarines. From Paris and Rome have come most positive indications that France and Italy, rival powers on the Mediterranean, are not going to be content with the relatively minor roles assigned them in world naval power.

This is one, and perhaps the chief one, of the points which will be discussed and negotiated in the three months of private exchanges which the two major powers have significantly allowed for in advance of the January gathering. It has already been discussed between President Hoover and Premier MacDonald.

Unable To See Yawning Prison Walls In Crystal Ball For District Attorney

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9.—The appeal of the Delano Coal company from the decision of the common pleas court of Indiana in the case of Conemaugh Iron works against the coal company, is in the hand of the Supreme court today.

Arguments on the appeal were heard by the Supreme court late yesterday afternoon sitting here for the Western district.

The case involves the granting of an injunction to the iron company, which restrained the coal company from executing a judgment against the Blairsville Iron Works company.

The Conemaugh Iron Works bought the properties and assets of the Blairsville Iron company in 1922. The Delano coal alleged that the new company was formed to fraudulently prevent the coal company from collecting money due to it from the old company.

The lower court restrained the coal company from executing the judgment against the new iron company, resulting in the appeal.

Now they propose a tariff to keep out tractors made in Ireland. To help the farmer we admit farm machinery free until some tries to get admitted.

A Great German.
Ramsay MacDonald Defined.
To Jail Respectability.
Vanishing Legends.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE (Copyright, 1929, King Features Syn., Inc.)

The burial of Stresemann, Germany's truly great statesman, emphasized the enduring power and common sense of the new German Republic.

There was no military display of arms and the Von Hindenburg, aged president of the republic, walked behind the coffin, followed by the entire diplomatic corps on foot.

The funeral procession passed under the Arch of Emperors, built to the glory of the German imperial family and until the war reserved exclusively for Hohenzollerns.

Stresemann was the first commoner whose body ever passed under that arch excepting Friedrich Ebert, the Socialist hanger-on, first president of the German Republic.

Germany belongs now to thinking
Germans and to the people of Germany and is managed for their glory and profit.

The difference between Ramsay
MacDonald and some other important men that talk about peace is well expressed by W. R. Hearst in an article welcoming the Labor Prime Minister. Mr. Hearst says of Mr. Mac-Donald:

"He does not come from the CLASSES that send people to war. He comes from the MASSES
who are sent to war."

Those that buy whisky from bootleggers were horrified at the decision of a Federal judge holding the bootlegger's customer guilty of conspiring to transport liquor in defiance of law.

A higher court reversed that decision, and bootleg customers, including 75 per cent of our "better element," were comforted.

Now Senator Sheppard of Texas, as dry as the deepest spot in Death Valley, suggests amending the Volstead act to make purchasers of liquor as guilty and criminal as bootlegging sellers.

Such an amendment, of course,
would strengthen prohibition enormously. Respectable prosperity would refuse to buy, fearing jail, and blackmail after buying.

But Senator Sheppard's amendment
probably will not pass, many legislators are themselves bootleg customers and don't believe in taking prohibition too seriously.

Nicholas Weinand, 84, years old, a member of Chicago's fire department
when the city burned, says Mrs. O'- Leary's cow had nothing to do with the fire, and nobody knows how it started.

Surviving legends are attacked, but William Tell never shot an apple off his son's head, but the story has been useful, causing millions to take an interest in struggles for freedom.

The boy did not stand on the burning deck. George Washington did not cut down the cherry tree or say that he could not tell a lie.

Thomas E. Mitten, recently drowned, and a long-time Philadelphia's street car system, establishing good relations with labor.

His will leaves millions for "the promotion and advancement of the cause of co-operation between capital and labor."

Rather a difficult program, even with several millions back of it.
Labor wants from capital a fair share of what they produce, and capital always get it.

Capital wants from labor earnest
co-operation, a real day's work, and doesn't always get it.

Peace between capital and labor is an issue even more important than peace among nations, since it refers to a war that is always on.

President William Green asks the American Federation of Labor "to organize the South." He urges all organizations to make definite provisions for work in the South.

The notion that the South everywhere objects to labor unions and welcomes Northern capital is denied by Clark Kinnard, editor of Edenton North Carolina. He says:

"Mill owned by Northern capital,
employing 1,000 persons, is no advantage to a town. The workers paid $12 a week, work 12 hours a day. They have only $12 a week to spend, which means that they do not contribute to the prosperity of the town. The money that the mill makes for the owners is spent, not in Edenton, but at Palm Beach, Newport, Paris.

"The mill workers are not home owners. They do not pay taxes. Yet they have numerous children to be educated at public expense.

"Many mills have been offered exemption from taxes, which means that they contribute nothing to the expense of maintaining fire, police and sanitary facilities.

"These mills wear out their laborers, and so the town acquires an increasing burden in worn out poor people. Ninety per cent of the charitable cases in Edenton are in the mill village."

Mr. Kinnard says in the Edenton
News: "That ten good farmers, owning their own homes, and practicing diversified agriculture, are more of an asset to the community than 200 mill workers."

Wall street, which recovered from its attack of nerves on Saturday continued cheerful Monday. Prices went up again, and money was "cheap," leading to speculators at 5 per cent.

Big concerns that have created investment trusts and that boast of ge-gantic profits know that falling stocks would mean their destruction. They don't want that.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:31. Sun rises
tomorrow 6:05.

About this time of the year some people try to believe that there is a Santa Claus—and do until after Christmas.

The people of Pennsylvania at an election approved the use of voting machines. Those who are supposed to do the people's bidding seem lax to put in the machines. It has been demonstrated again and again that the voting machines are the only way to carry on elections. When an election is over it will not take weeks for a clear-eyed man to enter a local board to correct the mistakes of Salvatorelli and his cronies.

Dear Hints and Dints: Am sending you a story that was told at the Washington Street Poker Club.

A clear-eyed man entered a local bank and hurried up to the nearest teller window. "Lemme have two cases right away," he said, pushing a $50 bill through the grating.

"What do you mean by two cases?"
demanded the teller at the window.
"Hanged if I know what it is," came the reply, "but I saw a sign outside that said '4 Percent' and I'll drink it whatever it is."

Washington Street Willie.

At this time of the year government prohibition agents and run running ships are sent south. It is a well known fact that the high priced liquor follows the rich and this is the time of the year the rich start south.
Every business has its fine points and some more than others.

A still alarm used to go to the firemen—now it goes to the dry agents.

Dear Hints and Dints: If you observe something approaching that refined and courteous manner of the Aurora Borealis, it's my present husband wearing the tie I presented him for Xmas, 1927.

When I asked him what would be an acceptable gift for his Xmas present from his last wife, he said,
"DEAREST! anything! the Scotch half of you will be willing to pay for
and the Irish half approves."

His shocked expression, when he opened the tie box was worth the price of admission.

The Irish half of me bought that tie and "Gosh ding him," he has got to wear it OUT, for the dirty ditz he made at the Scotch half of me.

Fair Charlotte.

Ignoring Nature's stop signals always get you in bad.

Getting all the nations of the earth
in a humor not to have any more wars seems a hard job. Very few people are in favor of wars at that, but there seems to be something which keeps an agreement to do away with wars being made. It must be the fighting spirit that keeps up wars.

Two preachers in Los Angeles, Cal., were cited for contempt of court because they made so caustic remarks about a murderer on trial. Saying anything unkind about murderers will get anyone in bad these days.

Dear Fred: Little Harold, having climbed to the pinnacle of the roof
of a very steep shed, lost his footing
and began to slide with terrifying swiftness toward that point, where the roof swept gracefully off into space.

"O Lord, save me!" he prayed. "O Lord save me! O Lord! . . . Never mind, I've caught on a nail."

G. H. O.

A lady told us she saw a big dog
nearly throw an officer off his motorcycle on the east side a few days ago and the officer never even stopped to see if the dog was in earnest or not.
Maybe the motorcycle cop is one of those dog lovers. She said she thought it was an out of town officer.

A reader up in Sheep Hill sends me
a clipping from a newspaper bearing a Hog Hollow headline and conveying the news that a jackrabbit in that place had 25 bunnies in one litter. My correspondent thinks there must be a mistake somewhere, being under the impression that jackrabbits are all of the male gender. Which brings up the old argument, so vigorously debated in this column, "Are ladybugs all ladies?"

HIS INDIFFERENCE
A bluebird sat on a telephone wire.
And sang his song of gloe.
For the words that come and went over the line,
Oh, nothing at all cared he.

"Don't scold at meal time," a woman's page writer advises. But unfortunately meal time is the only time members of the modern family are within hearing distance of each other.

THE STRANGER NEEDS WATCH-ING IF HE OFFERS THE WATCHDOG MEAT

No man can trust his "principles"
unless he has analyzed them.

He may think himself sincere and his motives unimpaired; he may think each principal a product of clear reasoning and sound morality; but it is man's nature to believe the thing he wishes to believe and support the faith that buttresses his greed, and he cannot be certain that his convictions are above reproach until he examines them as the police examine a suspect.

Let us assume that you whip your small son. You are convinced that you do it only for his "good"—that wretch, wounded vanity and a desire for revenge influence you not at all—that duty and duty alone prompts you.

If that is your sincere belief, try the shoe on the other foot. Would that same sense of duty prompt you to assault him if he were strong enough to fight back with some hope of success?

Or assume that you favor the repeal of a law because you desire to enforce it in bloodshed, robbery, contempt for authority and official corruption.

You are sincere in the belief that repeal is justified that you are certain that no prejudice or bias forms your opinion.

Then question yourself. If efforts to enforce the law against stealing resulted in the same bribery, bloodshed and corruption, would you favor
the repeal of it also?

You are a preacher or a reformer
who lectures, and you are certain that you labor because you love the right, and that the money you receive does not influence you at all.

Try yourself. Would you continue to preach or lecture, and labor at some other task to support yourself,
if you no longer get money for your services?

You vote as the boss does, but solely because you happen to think as he does. Would you continue to think with him if he should fire you?

Your affection for a certain patron seems genuine, but would you hold him in the same high regard if he should begin to patronize your competitor?

Would you, in short, hold your present opinions if you could make a great profit by changing them? And would you continue to hold them if you knew they would cost you reputation, money and friends?

A "principle" that adds butter to your bread may be the product of honest conviction, but for honor's sake
you must watch it narrowly lest it betray and corrupt you.

London is still talking of side crosstroaders. The vague will be greater when men take to walking sideways.

An East Brookfield says she calls her sweetie "Dumpey" because he never came back.

Some persons who claim they aim to please should take a little more time off for target practice.

Waverly Moon is visitin' his brother
here, an' he's as cheerful an' uncon-plainin' as a California grape farmer.
I'd just as leave try to drive with an octopus on the front seat as a clinging vine flapper.

TIP TO WIVES
The way to keep a husband happy

Old timer hands Hints and Dints

"You'd better play safe an' put this here in yer wamus. This kind of weather's brakin' the buckeyes down right smart, so it is, an' ya had better nab this 'un while the nabbin's

good by heck."

If a man has a screw loose in his head, will his brains rattle?

Very few of the nice looking juicy pumpkins you see in the fields these days ever get into a pie. Pumpkin pies must always come out of can.

Now when the apple crop is a failure what will happen to empty barrels? They stay empty, of course.

No man is ready for liberty until he can patronize a cafeteria without picking up more than he can eat.

Farm Board Head Receives Much Public Commendation

Severe Questioning Of Mr. Legge By Senatorial Committee Rebuked In Comment On Recent Proceedings

"I don't believe the American farmer wants charity or a handout. . . .
We are trying to handle this money
with a reasonable measure of safety."
As long as I am a member of the board that will be my purpose. I do not want to be confirmed under any impression that any other policy will be followed." These words, spoken by Mr. Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, before the Senate Agriculture Committee, questioning him as to Farm Board accomplishments and procedure, prior to confirming his appointment as head of that body, have aroused country-wide approval and some impact is expressed with the Senatorial quizzing of Mr. Legge.

Of this frank statement, the NEW-ARK EVENING NEWS says: "This is a policy that will appeal to the country. It is the policy that will make the federal farm relief effective. It is the policy all sound farming interests will approve." The ROCKFORD MORNING STAR considers the stand taken by Mr. Legge "is sensible and logical, and probably will point the way to real and sufficiently prompt relief for agriculture without the expenditure of thousands of dollars in a needless way." In the opinion of the ATLANTA MORNING STAR, "this refusal of the farm board to engage in a feverish activity of ill-considered loans out of funds raised from the taxpayers of the country will win widespread approval."

Although recognizing the merit of the system by which presidential appointees must be confirmed by the Senate, the SIOUX CITY TRIBUNE believes that "in the absence of formal charges against appointees, or the absence of serious implications against their fitness, persons under consideration should be treated with ordinary courtesy." This paper contends that "no sound reasons existed
whatever, for subjecting the farm
board members to a schoolroom quiz
by the Senate agricultural committee."

The SAN FRANCISCO CHRONI-CLE says: "It is wise, no doubt, to have the way open for a dignified inquiry into the abilities or the possible disqualifications of nominees to posts of honor and importance. But it is outrageous to turn such inquiries into inquisitions," to put the appointee "under a barrage of vicious cross-examination and innuendo and generally make a Roman holiday of the proceedings," declares this paper.

As it points out the serious injury done the nation since "The men who shrank from such a needless ordeal
are the very type of men the public service needs."

In similar vein speaks the SAGI-NAW DAILY NEWS, which regrets that reports would seem to indicate the committee indulged in "gagging tactics" in its questioning of Mr.
Legge, rather than making "a fair and reasonable attempt to arrive at a just estimate of his qualifications."

That the "country will not be impressed by this show of senatorial ostentation," is the statement of the GREEN BAY PRESS-GAZETTE, while the GRAND RAPIDS PRESS asserts that "between the objects of this group of senators and the purposes of Mr. Legge is all the difference between politics and progress."

The SIOUX FALLS DAILY ARGUS-LEADER thinks that "if these Senators were capable and honest in their deliberations, they would cooperate with the board instead of lighting up
the MARTINISBURG, W. VA., EVENING JOURNAL affirms its confidence that the "Farm Board is composed of men capable of formulating
and carrying out policies of their own.
If left alone, it should be able to accomplish something. If it is to be constantly hampered and harassed by congressional interference, however,
little can be expected of it," predicts
this paper. The PAGO PAGO HERALD thinks "it does not become these Senators to bait the Farm Board members" and views them as "acting ill-advisedly showing poor judgment and otherwise complicating an already complicated and difficult situation."

Approval of the acts of the Farm Board to date is voiced by the NEW YORK SUN in its comment that "the distinguished character of the work the board has done, so far, and its freedom from false pretense and its conformity to a consistent policy
in which politics has had no part. Mr.
Legge and his colleagues have so far lived up to their advance notices as business men," claims the Sun.

From its analysis of the policies expressed by Mr. Legge, the PINT DAILY JOURNAL concludes that "agriculture is not to be considered if it is to be placed on a sound business basis so that it can take care of itself." The PROVIDENCE JOUR-NAL believes that "within the range of free action permitted by the farm statute, Chairman Legge intends to be as rigorous in the exercise of his business judgment and common sense
as he would be if the farm relief organization were characterized by business," and this paper considers that the farmers of the nation will be wise if they take the view that they are extremely fortunate to have a man with this attitude direct the relief program."

The NEW YORK EVENING POST
finds cause for satisfaction in the response known by Mr. Legge, designing in him "a spirit which is highly desirable in a man upon whom a heavy pressure will be brought in favor of sound measures in the sacred name
of farm relief."

That the Farm Board wants to make "better conditions permanent, thus giving the farmer a chance to get back on his feet and into an economic state that is comparable with his brothers in essential industry" is the opinion of the LANCASTER
DAILY INTELLIGENCER.

The BUFFALO EVENING NEWS
says that "self-dependence means for the agricultural population steady prosperity resting on its own efforts" while "subsidies mean a continual need for the kind of politicians who will go after them." The TERRE HAUTE STAR thinks "the board should be permitted to proceed slowly but surely, by the American public, with the confidence that this careful building of a foundation for future activities is the method best calculated to bring about a permanent improvement in the farmer's fortunes."

The number of American millionaires today may be legion, but the species evidently was not unknown
sixty years ago, from newspaper accounts of the time.

As 1869 the press was showing concern over the "unequal distribution of wealth" and the growing number of millionaires. For example, an 1869 edition of the Washington N. J. Star comments editorially: "Alexander T. Stewart, the merchant prince, clears $1,000 a day.
Sunday excepted, the year round.
Cornelius Vanderbilt pleads guilty to twice that sum. William B. Astor takes his income at $4,330 per diem.
Sleeping or waking he finds a $5 bill dropping into his hat every minute of the twenty-four hours. He cannot sit down to chat with his physician
without having a little more wealth,
it is not health, to his credit; he cannot unburden his mind without feeling his burden increasing in his pocket.
He cannot walk Broadway, no matter how fair the weather, without meeting a shower of money."

At every turn cash stares at him in the most insolent manner. Banks fling their dividends at his feet, reluctant financiers bear him with compensation; unprincipled and soulless corporations dump their lucre at his doorstep, and contemptuous bull-stickers plaster his door with greenbacks.

"One might wonder what the fellow had done to merit such treatment. The only charge that can be brought is that he is a rich man's son and therefore must succeed."

Time does change many viewpoints,
but few facts.

There is always an open grave awaiting someone at the county home. When the home was established, a portion of the ground was set aside for a cemetery. It is here buried inmates whose friends are unable to bury them in other cemeteries, and also persons who die outside the home, whose relatives either cannot be found, and if found, are unable to bear the expense of a burial in another cemetery.

Often bodies of persons are held at morgues for several days in the hope that friends can be found or that funeral expenses will be raised. When it is found necessary to bury in the county plot, the grave is generally wanted at once. For this reason Superintendent Perry Snyder al-

IS SHE STUPID

or just the victim of your carelessness?

That girl of yours! You're so proud of her! You have so many plans for her future. She is to be popular, accomplished, brilliant. And yet... she may be just "getting by" in school, her studies a nightmare to her. Already she may be suffering from the jeers of her classmates. Is she stupid? Not necessarily. Perhaps she is merely defective in vision. Three out of every four "slow" school children have poor eyesight. It is an unfair handicap. If she fails, it is your fault—she will be the victim of your carelessness. Be fair! Have her eyes examined.

CUBS HOPEFUL OF EVENING UP WORLD'S SERIES

the second game of the World's Series here this afternoon.

Government forecasters said rain was expected by tonight but they did not believe there would be any precipitation before or during the game. It was slightly colder today than yesterday.

At this hour the only way a man could figure out what was taking place was to look at the scoreboard.

There was no doubt, anyhow, that the Cubs were the sentimental favorites in this neighborhood but nobody cared to carry his sentiment into business. The Athletics, on the strength of their 3 to 1 victory of yesterday with a supposedly second string pitcher, were rated at 8 to 5 in the betting this morning.

However, even money prevailed for today's game, this being due largely to the fact that no one knew what pitcher the subtle Mr. Mack planned to spring from the depths of his magic hat.

George Earnshaw, leading pitcher of the outfit, was a natural choice and, according to those who were supposed to enjoy Mr. Mack's confidence, Earnshaw would be the man unless it turned out that he had nothing but the right idea.

Joe McCarthy, Cub manager, was all set with Pat Malone as his pitcher and, with the drab background of the leaden sky to work with, Patrick's "high-hand" one figured to be not without its effect.

However, there still was some doubt on the other side of the field, it being held by some of the volunteer managers that John Pius Quinn, who is older than Santa Claus himself, would deploy his salivary gland into action on behalf of Mr. Mack. John Pius, with his spitting and slow one, wasn't a bad bet, at that, after the way Ethel had confounded the resident pine in the first game. Another thing in his favor was the fact that he is a notorious cold weather pitcher.

Voice Of Labor And Industry At Stake In Senate

Right To File Complaints Against Assessments On Imports Under Discussion

COALITION AGAINST MEASURE IN POWER

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The last hope of American manufacturers and organized labor for a voice in the application of the tariff law to foreign imports was at stake in the senate today when a Democratic-Insurgent coalition sought to eliminate "Section 516" from the new tariff bill.

Placed in the bill by the house, this section would give American manufacturers the right to file complaints with the secretary of the treasury against low assessments of imported goods. This privilege was extended to organized labor by the senate finance committee. The coalition, however, opposed both moves and gave notice it would seek to eliminate both provisions from the bill.

Although the American Federation of Labor endorsed the section, there appeared little hope of its remaining in the bill. The sentiment of the senate was based on a provision, giving the manufacturer and organized labor the right to appear in any case before the U. S. Customs court in which importers appealed the appraisement of their goods. This permission was revoked by a vote of 41 to 44, the Democratic-Insurgent coalition commanding a majority against the provision.

So certain was the outcome on a third similar proviso that administration leaders permitted the elimination of a section, giving the manufacturer and labor the right to appeal court decisions to the U. S. Supreme Court, without a record vote. Throughout the battle over these provisions, coalition leaders charged they would be used solely to harass and annoy importers and were intended to prevent importations.

Administration leaders were hopeful of reaching the rate schedules by the end of the week.

Romance Still Lurks in South Seas Says California Explorer on Return

After a Two-Year's Cruise in a Sailing Vessel, Harvey S. Bissell and His Family Come Back to Los Angeles with Many Strange Tales of Adventure Off the Beaten Track.

DESPITE reports to the contrary, romance still lurks in the South Seas, according to Harvey S. Bissell, wealthy Los Angeles explorer, who has just returned from a two-year's cruise of the land of childlike natives and rainbow sunsets.

Two years ago he and his family (pictured above) left Los Angeles in the schooner yacht "Wanderlust" and sailed westward in search of adventure. They touched at islands never before visited by white men and in many instances their ship was the first that had been seen by the natives. Traveling more than 36,000 miles off the beaten track they saw many strange sights and are enthusiastic about the real simplicity and childlike candor of the natives they found in the little islands which lie concealed from the larger and better known groups.

"Romance lurked everywhere," according to Mr. Bissell. "The natives were in the raw, so to speak, and had not succumbed to the vices and diseases brought to the other island tribes by the inroads of the white traders. We hope to return to the South Seas next year."

Parents Bully Children Seeking To Exalt Selves In Their Estimation

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D. baby. How'd you get that spot on your dress? You are the dirtiest thing I have ever seen. Now run along. Oh, He-eh! Why don't you jump over that rope. You make me nervous.

Finally I quickened pace to get away. "Poor kid," I said to myself as I hurried. Upon reflection I remembered that the child answered back and was attempting always to defend her actions and her skill.

"But I am sure that child is very unhappy and must have such very poor opinion of her mother. Poor mother, too," I thought. "She also is unhappy. While she may be getting satisfaction it is colored by annoyance. As that mother looks upon her daughter she sees a child who delights in doing things to irritate her mother. How I wish we parents could less often be big bullies. I wonder if I ever act that way toward my children. Perhaps I have, at times when I was out of sorts. God help me to be careful and to be on guard against myself."

One day I looked out from my porch and saw a mother with a stick about three feet long driving a child of four into the house. She didn't beat the child she merely pushed the stick against him every second step or so. Another bully!

All of us parents are likely to be big bullies with each other if we think you don't know anything. Usually there you have a dirty handkerchief. How often have I told you, always to carry a clean one. You are getting big enough to look after yourself. I must watch you like a

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

After that world series game of yesterday, some of the boys in on the know quietly admitted that perhaps they were wrong after all, about the series being fixed this year. They knew that everything was in the bag, they knew that Chicago was billed to win the game, and knowing this they went out and bet their shirts, on Chicago.

One of the boys who was on the inside before the game and on the outside immediately after, was heard to say as he went home with the lining of his pockets turned out, "There ain't no Sanky Claus."

Now that the teams crossed up the arrangements for the first day, it is going to be difficult to know just who to bet on today. The law of averages would suggest Chicago, but these fellows from Philadelphia may not be much on law enforcement.

The fall season for entertainment got away to a good start Tuesday evening up at the Cathedral. You've been humming the airs from "Good News" for some time, and last night saw the show that produced them.

But getting back to the world series. The crowd in front of The News board was big, but not nearly so big as it will be before the week is out. Some of the boys complained that the chairs were hard, and their complaints have been referred to the standing committee, composed of Officers William Tyeal and Nick Fuchella. They had the street as clean of automobiles as a livery stable and the fans got an unobstructed view of the board. You must come over.

I know now why the county teachers took their institute to the Union township school. It was because of the fine country air, or the detour on the East New Castle road. It was because of the food. They featured chicken a la King yesterday at the luncheon in the school building, and customers, those biscuits that went with it were as flaky as a snow storm. And as for the chicken. They must have been all of this year's model.

Anybody could be satisfied attending an institute with food like that being put out, and my idea would be that they really should hold night sessions.

From the amount of chicken they put out, you might have imagined it was a conference of Methodist preachers.

'Stoo bad about that Westinghouse game being postponed from Friday night to Saturday afternoon. Perhaps the Pittsburgh boys were afraid of the night air, or it may be that they aren't used to looking at so much light. Anyway the game is on just like the lights will be. And you can take Saturday afternoon off to see it.

Don't forget your car inspection. Before November 15 you will be required to have had your automobile inspected as to brakes, lights and general condition. That little sticker on the windshield may save you from explaining to the judge why you didn't comply with the rules.

Series Is On, Justice Waits

(International News Service) MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Oct. 9.—The wheels of justice did not grind here yesterday during the first game of the world series.

A Marshall county grand jury, investigating two score cases ranging from liquor possession to first degree murder, requested through its foreman, W. P. Curtis, that it be furnished with accounts of the game. The request was granted by Judge James P. Shipman and Curtis read the game, inning by inning, to the jurors. Judge Simpson also read the accounts to the 100 witnesses that crowded the court room.

The grand jury will probably complete its work tomorrow.

The Banner Of Pulaski

LONGFELLOW

Count Casimir Pulaski was a Polish officer who took part with the Americans, and fell at the taking of Savannah, during the American Revolution. His standard of crimson silk was presented to him by the Moravian nuns of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, and it became his shroud.

When the dying flame of day
Through the channel shot its ray,
Far the glimmering tapers shed
Paint light on the cowed head.
And the censor burning swung,
Where, before the altar, hung
That proud banner, which, with prayer,
Had been consecrated there;
And the nun's sweet hymn was heard the while,
Sung low in the dim, mysterious aisle.

"Take thy banner!" — may it wave
Proudly o'er the good and brave,
When the battles distant fall
When the sabbath of our vale,
When the clarion's music thrills
To the heart of these lone hills,
When the spear in conflict shakes,
An the strong lance shivering breaks.

Take thy banner! — and beneath
The battle-cloud's encircling wreath,
Guard it — till our homes are free;
Guard it — Good will prosper thee.
In the dark and trying hour,
In the breaking forth of power,
In the rush of steeds and men,
His right hand will shield thee then.

Take thy banner! But when night
Closes round the ghastly fight,
If the vanquished warrior bow,
Spare him! — by our holy vow,
By our prayers and many tears,
By the mercy that endears,
Spare him! — he our love hath shared,
Spare him! — as thou wouldst be spared.

Take thy banner! — and if e'er
Thou shouldst press the soldier's bier,
And the muffled drum should beat
To the tread of mournful feet,
Then this crimson flag shall be Martial cloak and shroud for thee.
And the warrior look that banner proud,
And it was his martial cloak and shroud.

Teachers Hear Good Lectures

Instructor At Institute Discusses Boy And Gang, Today

SLIPPERY ROCK HEAD ON PROGRAM

Group conferences are featuring today's sessions of the Lawrence county teachers' institute, which is being held in the Union township school. The elementary teachers were grouped to hear Dr. Tapp's lecture on "The Perils of Prosperity," while the high school teachers heard Dr. Rigdon's lecture on "Our English Construction."

The sessions opened this morning with Dr. Matheny speaking on "Sanitation in the School and Home." He drew a parallel between them, stressing the idea that sanitation taught in the school room reacted in better sanitation in the home and that working out this meant cleaner living conditions with a resultant higher standard of health.

Boy and His Gang
Dr. Tapp spoke on "The Boy and His Gang" and brought out the idea that a boy is essentially a gangster. Whether or not this desire to associate himself with a group or gang of boys is properly directed and made a good thing is the problem of the teacher, he said. The gang idea is a good one if the ideals of the gang are directed. Left to their own devices, boyish gangs often lead to trouble in later life.

Dr. J. Linwood Eisenberg spoke on "The Spirit of Play" and spoke on the necessity of proper play for children. Dr. Rigdon closed the morning session with an address on "Teaching School."

Opening the afternoon session, Dr. Matheny spoke on "Visual Aids in Instruction," with Dr. Eisenberg speaking on "The Spirit of Study." Then came the group conferences. The Galbraiths provided musical entertainment during intermissions in the program.

Porter Has Plan To "Starve War"

Pennsylvania Representative Chairman Of Foreign Affairs Has Peace Plan

ALL SHIPMENTS OF MUNITIONS BANNED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL, International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—With talk of peace permeating every section of Washington official life, Rep. Stephen G. Porter (R., Pa.), chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, today announced that he would seek passage of a resolution "to starve war" by prohibiting shipments of munitions from the United States at the president's discretion.

Embodiment of a great expansion of the policy now pursued by this government toward Latin America, Rep. Porter would place the United States at the head of a movement to restrict traffic in arms throughout the world.

To Eliminate Profits
The resolution, Porter declared, would forever take control of the munitions traffic from the hands of those who make a profit out of it and put it in the hands of the government.

Porter regards senate investigation into the activities of William B. Shorer at the 1927 Geneva naval limitation conference as a boon to his resolution, although he indicated that it had nothing to do with the mission of Prime Minister MacDonald.

"Developments in the Shorer hearing confirms the opinion which I have held for many years and only makes me more determined to press my resolution transferring control of the manufacture and sale of munitions of war from the manufacturers to the president, in line with our policy toward Central America and China," said Rep. Porter.

Would Aid Defense
The passage of the resolution would be helpful to the national defense, because the president is charged with conduct of the nation's foreign relations and therefore is the best judge of when an embargo on implements of war might be raised.

Amending the law giving the president power to embargo munitions shipments to Latin America and China, the Porter resolution provides: "That whenever the president finds that in any country conditions of domestic violence or of international conflict exist or are threatened, which are or may be promoted by the use of arms or munitions of war procured from the United States, and makes proclamation thereof, it shall be unlawful to export any arms or munitions of war from any place in the United States to such country in which conditions of domestic violence exist or are threatened, or to countries between which international conflict exists or is threatened, until otherwise ordered by the president or by congress."

New York Central Plans Stock Sale

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The New York Central railroad will sell 356,699 new shares of common stock to its stockholders at $100 a share, according to announcement made today by the directors. The new stock will be allotted at the rate of one share at $100 for each 13 shares of stock held.

Payment for the stock, which will bring $35,669,900 new funds into the company's treasury, must be made by January 31, 1930, and shares so subscribed and paid for will be entitled to dividends declared and payable after February first of next year.

On the present basis of $228 a share for outstanding stock, the "rights" to subscribe for the new shares are worth about $9 each.

Hear Testimony In Plea To Abandon Sharpville Railroad

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9.—The initial hearing of the application of the Sharpville Railroad Company to abandon its line was heard here today before Commissioner Charles H. Young of the public service commission of Pennsylvania.

The application, filed by G. M. McIlvane and C. A. Miller, receivers for the railroad, is being protested by the municipality of New Wilmington, Lawrence county. The line extends from Sharpville to Wilmington Junction, a distance of 16.7 miles, and with a branch line 1.2 miles long lies in Mercer and Lawrence counties.

Testimony offered before the commissioner today by T. J. Holderness, auditor of the company for 27 years, was that the road and yard of the company have lost $54,342 in the five years and a half ended last June 30. It was shown by testimony of the auditor taken from the record of the secretary, that the Baltimore and Ohio owns 3,599 shares and the Pennsylvania Company, Pittsburgh, owns 3,369 of the 7,000 shares of the Sharpville road.

It was indicated that the promoters of the application will try to show that the Sharpville railroad is really a part of two other railroads and that it should not be considered as an independent road losing money or operating under a deficit.

Buckwheat Yield Is High Despite Cut In Acreage

HARRISBURG, Oct. 9.—Pennsylvania farmers have produced annually during recent years approximately twice as much buckwheat as was produced in the Commonwealth 85 years ago, according to the State Department of Agriculture. Even during the last 40 years, the average acre yield of buckwheat has been increased from 10 to 22 bushels, so that in spite of the decrease of approximately 4000 acres in area producing the crop, the production has increased over 1,500,000 bushels.

Pennsylvania produces on the average more buckwheat than any other state. New York is a close second and outranks Pennsylvania now and then, but this has happened less frequently in recent years than formerly.

Bradford and Tioga counties have been the leading producers of buckwheat for several decades. Bradford county has the distinction of producing more buckwheat than any other county in the United States, and

"Masked Airmen" Still On Flight

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The "masked airmen of mystery" today continued to soar in the air after passing their 22nd hour aloft in their effort to break the present refueling endurance record of 420 hours.

James O. Hayden, flight manager, refused to identify the pilots as the two "Hunters Brothers" of South Bend, Ind., and offered to bet with anyone the identity of the men is not known to the public.

The pilots said they would remove their masks only if they succeeded in breaking the record.

THE FORD TOWN SEDAN

VALUE far above the PRICE

IN REVIEWING the many advantages of the Ford car, it is particularly interesting to note the relation between value and price.

The low first cost is a point to keep in mind at all times because it means a considerable saving to you in the purchase of a car.

Of even greater importance, however, is the reason for this low price and the manner in which it has been achieved without sacrifice of quality or performance.

Every purchaser shares the benefits of the Ford policy of owning the source of many raw materials—of making thousands of cars a day—of selling at a small margin of profit—of constantly giving greater and greater value through the vast industrial organization that has been built up for the making of this car.

A new degree of excellence has been brought within reach of all the people through the development of new manufacturing machines and the discovery and working out of new manufacturing methods.

Evidence of this is found in the extremely close limits of measurement maintained in the manufacture of vital parts. Some of these are held true to within a maximum variation of three ten-thousandths of an inch (.0003), reducing friction and wear and resulting in greater reliability, longer life and better performance.

As the quality of workmanship has been increased through the accuracy of the machine, so has the quality of materials been increased. The savings resulting from new manufacturing economies have been put back into the car. Through typical Ford methods, materials once thought too expensive for a low price car have been made available for use in the Ford.

Today, more than ever, it is an outstanding example of high quality at low cost. Were it made in any other way, under any other policy, it would unquestionably cost you much more than the present price.

The use of the Triplex shatter-proof glass for the windshield is a definite indication of the quality that has been built into the Ford car. So are the four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers. The five steel-spoke wheels. The silent, fully enclosed six-brake system. The aluminum pistons. The chrome silicon alloy valves. The simplicity and efficiency of the lubrication, cooling, ignition and fuel systems. The large number of ball and roller bearings. The extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings. The many other mechanical features that count so much in reliability, economy and long life.

All of these are important considerations to every man and woman who is contemplating the purchase of a motor car. All are important reasons why the Ford delivers a value far above the price.

Hit-Run Driver

Autoist Who Injures Lad Fails To Stop After Accident

Called to Culbertson Way, Tuesday, Officer Robert Letera found that Richard McGough, aged 7, of rear 211 Pearson street, had been hit by an automobile and rather severely injured and that the driver of the car had failed to stop and render assistance. No one secured the license number of the hit and run driver. A description was however available, which may prove of value in finally determining whom the motorist was, on that occasion.

According to the report turned in by Officer Letera, this boy was knocked down by a tan colored sedan, and had his right arm injured. He was removed to the office of a physician, where it was found that his arm had been broken near the wrist. He was also cut slightly.

Officer Letera scoured the East Side district in all directions but was unable to locate the automobile or driver responsible for the accident.

Other Accidents.

R. L. Houlahan of 511 North Cedar street, reported Tuesday that he was enroute east on West Long avenue, near Seloto street, as another machine bearing Pennsylvania license D 49-080 was going in the same direction in pulling out from the curb with the result the machines came together.

Victor Berger's Daughter Lauds Ishbel

DOESN'T POWDER NOR SMOKE NOR USE SLANG.
DOESN'T WEAR DASHING CLOTHES.
RANKS SOCIALLY NEXT TO THE QUEEN.
AND DOESN'T CARE WHERE GETS AT DINNER.

ISHBEL MACDONALD

By DORIS BERGER WELLES
Central Press Staff Writer

She doesn't powder nor smoke nor use slang. She doesn't wear dashing clothes and she has a sense of propriety that seems almost quaint in this jazz age.

Nor that Ishbel MacDonald is old-fashioned, her friends will tell you. For she shares the social and political opinions of her distinguished father.

But there is something about Ishbel, like the sound of her name, they say. A tang that is difficult to describe, except by telling what it is not. It is the very opposite of modern flappership.

An Unspoiled Girl.

Ishbel is 26 and pretty. She has enjoyed rare prestige since she was 10, and long before that, uncommon responsibility. Perhaps it is the one which balances the other, for I know of few girls who would be so wholly unspoiled by the prestige and unscathed by the responsibility.

Ranking socially next to the queen, she is naturally more interested in London housing problems than in evening clothes. The social amenities of rank and degree which stir so many tempests in political reports, seem never to have troubled her, though these questions must have arisen before dinner parties at 10 Downing street.

She is as simple and as gentle and as unaffected as if her eyes and hair and clothes and manners had not been the talk of all England.

It is this extraordinary simplicity, perhaps, which keeps Ishbel from being shy or demure. She is reserved, but she is as free from artificial social veneer as the simplest Scotch lassie.

In spite of her experience in presiding over the second dinner table of England, Ishbel never indulges in commonplace small talk. She is silent, unless she has something to say. Not silent in a dour studied way, but quite naturally and simply silent.

Has Father's Traits.

Americans, with their eager, talky hospitality, might think Ishbel's quiet restraint, odd, were it not for the candor of her face and the light in her eyes when she is talking of something that interests her. That is disarming. It makes one aware, suddenly, of new and rare values. Of freshness and straightforwardness.

Like her father's, Ishbel's is not a warming personality. And the daughter is without the fire which gives the father eloquence. But she has his sincerity and his incorruptibility and something of his ability.

Ishbel will take to America, as she took to 10 Downing street. And of course she won't care where she sits at dinner. But her clear, inscrutable eyes will observe with a certain canny humor, those who do.

Convention Committees Report On Progress On Tuesday Evening

Plans Are Well Under Way
For Educational Convention Here In December

Chairman And Committee
Members Report Affair
Will Be Well Handled

Chairmen and members of local committees that are functioning in connection with the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association, which comes here next December, met for the first time at the call of Superintendent C. C. Green, general chairman of arrangements, last night at the North street school building.

The head of every committee was present and in many cases the entire membership of the committees, including teachers associated with the school district and New Castle residents.

Dr. Green presided over the meeting, which lasted for an hour and a half. In that space of time considerable progress had been made and the committee workers departed at the close fired with new enthusiasm for the tasks which are to come.

The magnitude of the convention, New Castle's facilities for such, and the reason for asking the convention to meet here were again amplified by Dr. Green in opening the meeting. He referred to the convention as the annual meeting of the largest educational association in the world. He said the city should feel proud of the fact that it will meet here.

Following his remarks the superintendent asked for reports from the chairmen of different committees. Frank L. Orth, in charge of hotels and other reservations, was first. He described the actual condition of affairs as they were yesterday. Mr. Orth said that at least 3,000 reservations must be made. Every hotel in the city was sold out long ago and now the private homes must be opened. He explained that all delegates coming to this convention will be more than willing to pay for their visit and not expect their hosts or hostesses to entertain them free.

Then Prof. F. L. Burton, whose task is the transportation of the delegates, both locally and from different sections of the state by rail, said that he is encountering splendid co-operation from all parties he has interviewed relative to transportation. Scores of local men have donated their machines and their time in order to meet the delegates at the depot when they arrive. In closing Mr. Burton impressed upon the committee workers the need for more automobiles for transportation locally during the stay of the convention.

During the course of the meeting other chairmen were called upon for reports of their work done so far. Prof. James M. Hughes, principal of the Lincoln-Garfield school, reported that halls and meeting places were being secured; Roy G. Leslie, commercial exhibits, told of the plan for the display of school equipment on the mezzanine floor at the Cathedral; Browne K. Thacker of the information committee said that definite plans are being made for caring for the delegates in regard to information; Miss Anne R. Perry, who is chairman of the publicity committee, reported that plans for newspaper publicity and for articles in the Pennsylvania School Journal were about completed.

Dr. Mary J. Baker, health director for the New Castle schools, told of the association dinner at the Cathedral on Friday, Dec. 27, when it is planned to seat 2,000 delegates at one time. This affair will mark the first such dinner of the organization. Miss Nannie L. Mitchell, in charge of a group in charge of special dinners and luncheon.

Plans for the educational exhibit in the senior high school were made known by Miss Emilie H. Salomon, chairman. Her task is a large one, and while it does not constitute the biggest job for the convention, nevertheless it is one that takes a back seat for none of the others. Under the direction of Miss Gladys Rich, music director for the city, arrangements are well under way for the music at the association dinner on Friday and for other times during which music may be needed.

When the chairmen had reported Mr. Green called upon Mayor William H. Gillespie and James W. Cole, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Representing this city, both assured the school workers of their support, both personally and of the city facilities which they can place at the disposal of the visitors.

Different members of the school board were in attendance and made brief remarks when asked to do so. Other civic leaders pledged their wholehearted support of the undertaking and expressed their belief that New Castle can and will entertain the guests in a way not experienced heretofore.

A huge crowd appeared at the fly-

was given in the evening by the Aero

ception of a press ship and a Wright

Believe Low Point In Steel Industry Has Been Reached

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 9.—Although steel production has declined further, it is believed that the low point in demand has been reached and a recovery will be noted soon, the Iron Age will say in its weekly summary of the iron and steel industry
tomorrow.

"Railroad buying continues to expand," the magazine will say, "structural steel business is heavy, farm equipment makers are taking more steel and requirements for bridges and ships are in encouraging volume."

The Iron Age predicts that October will be the transition period in steel output, pointing to the fact that a number of the larger carriers plan to place large orders during the next week or two and that while steel specifications from the automotive industries is at a low ebb, increased demand is expected.

Recovery Uncertain.

"The extent of the impending recovery in motor car production is uncertain," the magazine will say. "Recent published announcements notwithstanding, the activities of manufacturers and the movement of materials definitely point to the bringing out of new models by both of the leading makers of low priced cars."
The magazine will say that the fabricated steel inquiries are the heaviest of the year as 93,000 tons and that foundry operations reflect a shift of activity.

"The Iron Age composite price for finished steel has declined from 2.34 cents to 2.309 cents a pound," the magazine concludes, "which is the lowest level this year. The pig iron composite remains at $18.29 a ton."

LUCERNE CROSSED IN TUB
Anxious to make a record of some kind, a young man recently crossed Lake Lucerne, Switzerland, in a wash-tub. The voyage took nine hours. The navigator used a long double paddle.
As a matter of safety two companions accompanied him in boats.

A New York bank clerk "borrowed"
$10,000; bet on the ponies, and returned the money. They say he lacked just a nose of being a casual.

The proper way to judge a man is to get his opinion of the expression,
"a young man of 40."

Students of Shakespeare should note that the man who smoked a cigar and endangered the lives of the Zep-pellers is named Hogg.

Alas! Modesty is the state that exists before you know there is such a thing as modesty.

Extortion Charge Is Filed Against Justice Of Peace

BEAVER, Pa., Oct. 9.—William Cassidy, Ambridge justice of the peace, waived a hearing before Justice of the Peace David Stewart and furnished bond for court of $1,300.

Cassidy is charged by Mrs. Louise Erwin, South Heights, mother of Raymond Erwin, a minor, with extortion, alleging Cassidy attempted to fine her son $36 for violating an Ambridge ordinance with assault and battery on her son, and with refusing to furnish Harry B. Richardson, her son's counsel, with a transcript of the case.

The charges were made, it is said, as a sequel to the arrest of Erwin, Clifford Matchett, Thomas Nippes, Cora Erwin and Harry Crane, all of South Heights, on a warrant issued from the office of Justice Cassidy.

Hitting on All Eight!

Doctor Gives Hint to Lucky Salesman

IT'S a wise man that knows when he is slipping. Mr. R. F. Myers of 711 Roseale Street, Baltimore, had the good fortune to get his tip straight from one of his doctor customers (he was selling for a pharmaceutical house) and since that lucky visit he has increased his business 50 per cent.

For two years he had been driving from town to town, and naturally this threw his elimination out of shape. He felt himself slipping. Cathartics only made him worse. Then one day he was calling on a wise old physician, and asked his advice. "What you need, my boy," said the doctor, "is a simple, easy, normal way to clean the poisons out of your system—we all have them—and with your kind of work they certainly cut down efficiency. Why don't you try Nujol?"

"Well, believe it or not," says Mr. Myers, "in a few days I felt like a new man. 'What's got into you'?"

asked the home office, 'your business has increased 50 per cent!'"

That's the great thing about Nujol. As soon as it begins to clean the poisons out of your system it makes you feel so well that you can almost always do a much better job. Nujol is not a medicine and contains no drugs. It is perfectly harmless, forms no habit. It is simply bodily lubrication, which everybody needs. You, like everybody else!

Why put off good health any longer? Go into any good drug store and get a bottle of Nujol in a sealed package. Costs so little and means so much! Maybe you can increase your efficiency 50 per cent too!

arrangements comprises Mrs. B. C. Freeburn, Mrs. Alice Taylor, Mrs. Ouida Collingwood, Mrs. Florence Good and Mrs. Jane Campbell.

MR. JOHN LEDERER

My kidneys caused more misery and I had to get up 10 or 12 times every night. 'Well, I am sure glad that I gave Konjola a trial. At last I am free from pain and misery. "Good News" Pleases Cathedral Crowd

Musical Show Opens Season Auspiciously At Cathedral Tuesday

There are three necessary elements to a good food and vocal show, if you take the recipes offered for success along the Big Alley, and the three are Legs, Looks and Lyrics. If it comes to the point where the ship seems sinking with all hands on board, you can toss away the latter two and still send 'em away laughing.

Pardon the confusion of metaphors, but this typewriter doesn't seem to be able to play some of the melodies heard in "Good News" Tuesday night in the Cathedral, and perhaps the very generous crowd, may be partly responsible for the fog. What this article intends to convey is some idea of what it was all about, if any, without leaning too much to the display of lingo.

Tuneful To End
"Good News" contains a lot of tuneful melodies, among them "The Best Things In Life", "Lucky In Love" and "Good News". While the choruses left plenty to be desired, the pep of the youngsters in their competition somewhat for this lack. Among the leads were some really good singers, notably Jack McDonnell the male lead, and Kathleen Kidd, Edith Sheldon, a winsome little thing who is as graceful as a fawn suffered from a heavy cold and this handicapped her somewhat.

The show is a collegiate musical comedy, woven around "dear old Tair" where mathematics seemed to have been traded for melody, and where pitchbend was necessary for passing. There is a football hero who gets himself engaged to the wrong girl, but gets straightened out in the second act. One of George Olsen's bands played the accompaniments and some clever dancing was tapped out by Edwin Michaels, and Audrey Christie.

There's so little to be said about a musical comedy except a word about the singing and dancing. In spots it scintillated, and there were spots that showed the need of some polishing. But taken as a whole it was an acceptable evening's entertainment, an opening of a season in the Cathedral which seems to promise mighty well.

No, no; the ass that spoke in Bible times didn't spend 30 minutes introducing the speaker of the evening.

If you should lift the body of every car

in Buick's field—and compare the chassis—then you too would choose

The New BUICK

If you were to lift the body from the chassis of any one of a hundred cars—and compare the vitally important details of chassis design and construction—you would find Buick so outstandingly superior in all phases of fine car engineering that you would almost inevitably make Buick your choice. Here is what you would see in this famous chassis:

Shock Eliminator assuring complete freedom from annoying jolts and jars, even over the roughest roads.

Buick's unprecedented provision for riding comfort—new, longer rear springs, and new Lovejoy Duo-draulic Shock Absorbers, front and rear. Working in perfect harmony—combining to check both bound and rebound—and providing a degree of riding ease without parallel anywhere.

And, finally, such established Buick superiorities as the famous double-drop frame of finest, toughest steel... the massive side and cross members reinforced at points of stress to insure the greatest roadability and long life... the celebrated torque tube drive, Buick multiple-disc clutch, self-lubricating differential, and numerous other features.

When the list of Buick's chassis features—entirely aside from the irresistible appeal of Buick's new Fisher Bodies—reads like a roll-call of all that is soundest and best in fine car engineering... and when, in addition, you can buy a Buick for as little as $1225, f. o. b. factory... what wonder that all comparisons lead to Buick! What wonder that more than 2,000,000 people have invested their money in Buicks—and that from two to five times as many are purchasing this new Buick as any other automobile priced above $1200!

NEW HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC FIELD MAY BE SECURED

School Board Fears Lincoln Field May Be Needed For School Extension

School Measures Are Discussed At Meeting Of Board On Tuesday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 9.—At the regular monthly meeting of the board of education which took place Tuesday night in the Lincoln school building, members of the athletic committee reported that while the bleachers on the Lincoln field have been repaired to pass inspection this year, they are not by any means permanent, and at a previous meeting the committee felt that the board should be looking ahead into the future and plan for some permanent space that may be allotted to sports of the Ellwood schools. They pointed out the fact that the Lincoln field, while generally a valuable space, and will certainly be used if another wing is added to the Lincoln building, which is a certainty, with school conditions as they are growing here. The bleachers in the Lincoln field are not permanent and have been repaired for this year at a cost of $407.75. The athletic committee feels that the permanent bleachers could be placed on the Ewing Park field and a start made toward a permanent stadium, if that space be acquired next year. There was favorable discussion on this fact by all members of the board.

There was a 100 per cent attendance of the board, and the meeting was preceded with a delicious dinner served in the domestic science room of the Lincoln high school. J. W. Offutt, as chairman of the finance committee, stated that the borough would like to ascertain what percentage of the board of education expected to pay for the use of the $30,000 from the central building, he suggests that a fair rate be paid the borough to defray carrying expenses, which were agreed upon by the board.

Thane Hancher proposed that $2,000 of the borough fund be transferred to the public library for the purpose of defraying the expenses of that institution, and was met with unanimous approval.

It was reported that $205,000 of school taxes had been turned in by the tax collector so far. Members of the supply committee reported that $15,000 in checks was being sent out, which covers most of the bills for the year.

Members of the building committee recommended the hiring of janitors for various buildings, and also recommended that the steam heating pipes and some windows of the Ewing Park school be repaired.

Sup. W. Ray Smith suggested that the facts concerning the various business attendants upon the completion of the school auditorium should be placed before members of the junior and senior classes of the high school.

All Patrons For Football Games Must Show Tickets

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 9.—At the regular monthly meeting of the board of education which took place Tuesday night in the Lincoln building, the matter of permitting all children to enter the athletic field without a ticket after the first kickoff was discussed.

It seems that on last Saturday several hundred youngsters were permitted to enter after the first kickoff and proceeded to have a good time among the crowd, bleachers, etc. This practice will be no more as the board went on record as being in favor of charging all students up to junior high school a small sum to view the games.

School Nurse Makes First Report Here

Nine Hundred And Seventy Pupils Examined Month Of September

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 9.—The first report of the newly appointed school nurse, Miss Edith Shrimp, was submitted at the regular monthly meeting of the board of education, held in the Lincoln building Tuesday evening.

During September she visited the pupils 23 times and examined 970 pupils. Out of that number 675 were reported defective. The largest number of defects came under vision, and one was discovered to be blind in one eye. Defects in teeth of pupils was reported as 509, and 167 cases of bad tonsils were reported.

Concerning malnutrition, 287 cases were reported. Nine hundred and seventy pupils were weighed and measured, and already many of the defective cases have been corrected. From the looks of Miss Shrimp's report, there is no doubt but that the addition of a school nurse to the local educational staff is badly needed and did not come any too soon.

COMMISSION TO STUDY LAWS ABOUT TOWNSHIPS

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 9.—Organizational meetings will be held here within the next few weeks of three commissions created by the 1929 legislature. Invitations are being sent out by Governor Fisher to the members of these three bodies to get them together to begin their work.

The most important commission of the three which is to meet is the one named to study the laws relating to townships. Its personnel includes members of the House and Senate in addition to representatives from the first and second class townships.

This commission together with the one to study the printing laws and requirements and also investigate schools for the blind and deaf with a view of having them become State institutions will report to the 1931 legislature.

The township commission may recommend a number of changes in the laws which will benefit the smaller districts. At each session of the legislature efforts are made to increase the State-aid to the poorer townships for road improvements and school maintenance. Several years ago an amendment was adopted to the State constitution governing the classification of cities, counties, boroughs and townships. There is the possibility that the next session will be asked to create several new classifications of townships.

Bond Issue Is Lions' Subject

Speakers Stress Need Of Immediate Improvements About City

John R. Dunfee, Attorney Clarence Patterson, Dr. J. L. Reed and Earl Book were the speakers in the bond issue discussion which featured yesterday's meeting of the New Castle Lions club.

Presiding over the session was Attorney Alvah M. Shunk. In a brief, yet complete way he first pointed out the five items proposed. He said the committee had as its purpose when it decided to conduct a meeting where the bond issue could be debated pro and con the informative viewpoint of just what they must vote yes or no on November 5. It was not intended as a meeting to boost or stir up agitation against it.

Each speaker with the exception of Dunfee spoke five minutes. He covered the main and storm sewer matters and because of the importance of the items upon which he spoke was allotted seven.

Attorney Patterson had parks and playgrounds as his assignment; Dr. Reed spoke on streets, and Earl Book pointed out how taxes would be affected were the bond issue to be approved.

Farm Mortgages In State On Decrease

Mercer County Farmers Will Hold Exhibition At Institute, October 18

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 9.—What will be the most spectacular farm and home day ever held in Mercer county is planned for holding at Fredonia institute on October 18, when the farm and garden products of the townships of Coalinga, Fairview, Delaware and Jefferson will be on exhibition at a monster agricultural fair.

The event is made the more interesting for everyone in the county generally by the literary program of the afternoon, featured by an address of Congressman T. C. Cochran. Details of the plan are now being worked out by Stanley Pury, head of the agricultural bureau of the county school at the institute, which was the first of its kind ever instituted by the state and reports for this year the largest attendance in the school history.

BOOTLEGGERS CAUTIOUS
How strict law enforcement is changing conditions in Mercer county is shown by latest developments. From a reliable source it is learned that "entre" now to the best county speak-easies is by personal introduction of someone known to be all right. No amount of persuasion or flash of money works now with the guardians to these cases, reports one who is schooled in this business. In the opinion of the initiated "joints" that

From an equally reliable source of information your correspondent learns that the rabid "wet" of the valley clubs in rebellion at the court order closing their bars, have established this comfort just over the line in Ohio and are reported to drive back and forth from the clubhouse in Pennsylvania.

TO TRY FEW CASES
There will be 50 cases for the October criminal sessions from present indications. The court calendar is the smallest of some years for this session. The transcript docket for the term totals 140 cases. The reduction in number is due to the unusual number of pleas that have been entered.

McQUISTON BREAKS RECORD
County Treasurer R. C. McQuiston has broken all county records for collection of mercantile tax. With one filing suit to make collection against one county merchant he had reduced the total from his starting point of 2200 to 10 that are yet unpaid. He predicts the collection of tax from this number as well before he finishes with the list.

All tax not paid by September 1st is collectable by law. The procedure has been to sue about 200 county merchants to get the money. By calls and letters McQuiston has avoided legal processes and has made his collection. There are yet remains in Farrell five, Sharon four, Sharpville two, and the rest scattered.

QUEER CASE FILED
What is the legal status of Fred Hutchison of Farrell is the stated case put up to decision of Judge J. A. McLaughry today in petition of the attorneys of Hutchison.

Hutchison bought 100 shares of Standard Commercial Tobacco through the People's Bank of Farrell in early January this year. He gave a check for $2,000 and a note for $1,900 in payment of the stock.

The money was to be sent by the bank in draft form to New York and there on receipt of stock from Moore, Leonard and Lynch turned over. In the interim the bank was taken over by the State Banking Department. Payment on all drafts was stopped by Peter C. Cameron, the commissioner of banking.

In his petition Hutchison claims that the bank has his money tied up and that he never has received the stock. He now wants to know just how he stands.

60-Year-Old Man Faces 21 Charges

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9.—Joseph Haas, 60, ex-convict and modern "Fagin", is said to have been one of the cleverest counterfeiters in the history of the country, today faced a total of 21 charges and declared: "I'll never live to serve a fourth of my sentence," as he was led to a cell to await court trial on the long list of charges.

Additional charges of larceny, illegal use of surgical instruments, and a moral charge were added to the 13 charges of forgery and passing bad checks and counterfeiting street car passes already charged up against him.

Haas, a graduate of Northwestern University, was without a lawyer's services and apparently without friends. Bernard Fineman and his wife, Esther, were held in $1,000 bail each for court on a charge of participating in the crime in which illegal use of surgical instruments was charged.

Radio Industry Is Forging Ahead, Ten Million Sets In Use

Radio Industry On Very Stable Basis; Orders Waiting For Thirty Million Sets

Tube Manufacturer Says Radio People Well Qualified To Give Efficient Service

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(With ten million radio sets now in use in this country, and potential sales awaiting in 30 million other homes, the radio industry enters the closing of 1923, the best prepared in its history to render efficient service to the American public.)

Mr. Cunningham, president of E. T. Cunningham, Inc., manufacturer of radio tubes, in this surveying prospect in the radio industry for International News Service today, emphasized the growing field for "replacements" as well as for new radio sets in the homes of the American people. From 75 to 80 per cent of total sales of sets and accessories are going into the home where an older set already existed, increasing enormously the potential market for radio goods, according to this well known manufacturer.

Valuable Discovery
"Some time ago," said Mr. Cunningham, "the radio world discovered that from 75 to 80 per cent of total sales of sets and accessories were 'replacements.' Hence it is that while the scope of radio prosperity is in general ratio to the soundness of business conditions as a whole, it has also in its replacement field a definite and permanent market of great extent, upon which it always can depend."

"With 10,000,000 radio sets now in use in this country, it will be seen that the replacement business assures the radio industry of a market of several million new buyers. Potential sales also are awaiting in 30,000,000 other homes, in which there is no radio equipment as yet."

Seek Perfection
Mr. Cunningham points out that a decade of progress within the radio industry has brought about a marvelous degree of mechanical perfection to its product. The radio sets of 1923, he declared, can well claim to give absolute reproduction of original tonal values of any type of broadcast program. Hence, he says, manufacturers have abandoned their slogan of "a better set than last year's" to that of "maximum performance."

"Added to this ability of the radio to produce life-like interpretations of what it receives from the air, is the increasing excellency of broadcast programs in general," said the head of the Cunningham company. "These two phases have made the present-day radio eagerly desired in the American home."

No Longer Luxury
"In this movement, in which we say that radio has left the luxury stage to the assured position of necessity, we find that the betterment of radio programs has been a distinctive factor."

Mass production and greater efficiency within the industry has brought a remarkable increase in the quality of sets offered, at price levels far below those of a few years back.

"Demand," Mr. Cunningham says, "has been created through the substantial economic basis of providing something that has become a tangible necessity. The 'eye appeal' in cabinet designing has been added to the 'ear appeal' of the set's performance, and this applies not to one or two manufacturers, but to the industry in general. Prevailing prices for radio equipment are far below those of a few years back."

Foxy Makes Break. Ehmke Holds It And Miller Scores Runners

ATHLETICS WIN OUT IN NINTH INNING

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Jimmy Foxy, first baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics, entered the roster of world series stars yesterday when he started his career en route to victory over the Chicago Nationals by piling a home run to the left field bleachers in the seventh inning of a sensational game. It was not the only run but it was the run that led to a 3 to 1 downfall for the Cubs.

Ehmke, Phila. pitcher broke the record for strikeouts made in world series game as he turned in 12. Root stranded 5 and allowed 2 hits and a run in seventh inning. We were relieved by Bush.

After Foxy hit the homer the game went to the ninth before either team scored and Philadelphia was first to register again.

In the first half of the ninth Cochrane and Simmons scored for the Athletics and Cuyler crossed the plate for the Cubs.

Win Out in Ninth
Cochrane came up in the ninth and singled to right. Simmons hit to English who fumbled and Cochrane went to second. English drew an error. Foxy hit to English who fumbled again as he started to throw and the bases were filled. It was a second error for English and the bases were filled.

Miller singled and Cochrane and Simmons scored. The side was retired without other scores.

In the last of the ninth Cuyler hit to Dykes who threw wild to first and he took second on the error. Stephens scored Cuyler with a single to center but that was the last run scored.

Coach Hugo Bezdek Explains

How, And Why New Football Rules Were Created

By HUGO BEZDEK
Head Football Coach of Penn State
(Written Especially for New Castle News Through Central Press Association)

PENNSYLVANIA, Pa., Oct. 9.—Though the football season of 1929 is well underway, football fans throughout the country continue to puzzle over the changes in the football rules for the season.

There has been plenty of pro and con concerning the rule changes advocated and passed last winter by the Football Rules Committee. In many cases strong opinion has been expressed against any changes whatever in the rules, resting in considerable criticism of the committee. It is worth while to examine the constituency of the committee and its workings to get a proper conception of how it operates.

Some years ago the Rules Committee was composed of representatives of several of the larger eastern colleges by acclamation or mutual consent of the colleges without any scientific authority as to its composition coming from anyone but within themselves. Today the Football Rules Committee is appointed by the National Collegiate Athletic association, which in turn has for its membership practically all of the leading colleges in every part of the United States.

The National Collegiate Athletic association is divided into geographical districts. Each district has a representative on the Football Rules Committee. This brings together a representative group of the football interests throughout the United States. In addition to this committee, there are two members at large appointed by the president of the National Collegiate Athletic association and two advisory committees, one representing the football officials of the country and the other the American Football Coaches' association.

Concerning the latter addition there is some interesting history.

Coaches Demand Recognition

The American Football Coaches' association became quite indignant over the fact that everyone seemed to be represented upon the Football Rules Committee except the Football Coaches' association. There took place a short series of indignation meetings in New York City some two or three years ago while the coaches' association was in session.

Due to the careful methods of the chairman of the Football Rules Committee the American Football Coaches' association was asked to have a committee appointed to represent its association at the Football Rules Committee meeting. Naturally the meetings quickly ended.

Yet the old feeling of keeping away the football coaches from any legislative action concerning the game itself was quite evident. For a time it looked as though the coaches' association was about to formulate football rules themselves and play accordingly. This would have aroused feeling among the faculties and possibly adverse feeling from the public at large. Recognition of the "man in harness," so to speak, proved a very happy solution.

The Football Rules Committee meets usually about the first week in February. This meeting has been moved up at the insistence of the football coaches due to the fact that the book of rules did not come into the hands of the coaches until early September. The summer coaching schools held during July and August desired the new rules so that they could study them during the classes. In view thereof, the chairman of the Football

Rules Committee has endeavored and succeeded in producing the football rules earlier.

How Rules Committee Works

It is interesting, at least to me, to see how this vital organ, the Football Rules Committee, operates. The meeting usually is held in a secluded place so there is no disturbance from the public or from other interested parties. The session lasts from two and a half to three days. Work starts upon arrival and continues each morning and afternoon, and many times until 11 p. m. daily. The physical equipment of the room indicates one of serious business.

Blackboards, paper and pencil, rule books and all the paraphernalia necessary for its workings are in evidence. Sub-committees are appointed at once to consider all questions, suggestions, changes of rules that have been sent to the representatives of the various districts. The material is all tabulated so as to avoid duplication.

First consideration is given to major changes in the rules. These receive preliminary discussion but lie over for longer consideration. All phases of every problem are talked over carefully one by one, every angle looked into and tested. Some are quickly proved and ambiguous. Gradually the worthy football thought is laid bare and crystallized before the meeting for adoption or to be held over for further consideration. At times the coaches themselves make actual demonstration of the points under discussion.

Seek Playing Balance

The fundamental policy of the committee is to keep defense and offense as nearly equal as possible and yet introduce any new thought that may advance the game and keep up with modern thought.

Contrary to public opinion the committee abhors new changes and is constantly in fear of undermining the fundamentals of the game itself. Furthermore, it realizes that it takes considerable amount of time for the public at large to acquaint itself with new changes, which causes considerable amount of dissatisfaction. Then the changes sometimes do not work out in the manner in which they were originally conceived. Due to experience the committee is prone to be ultra-conservative. The other great fundamental policy is to simplify the rules so that everyone may easily understand them.

In behalf of the committee it may be said that they have done a wonderful piece of work and deserve commendation.

Connie Smiles

CONNIE MACK

Connie Mack, veteran leader of the Athletics, wears a big smile today. Yesterday in the first game of the world's series the "old boy" fooled the Cubs by using a second string pitcher—result, 3 to 1 victory. Series games are nothing new to Connie. Several years ago he packed a lot of them away. Mack is confident his team will win the present classic.

Carnegie eleven defeated Home Street Stars 12 to 0 in a grid battle. Jimmy Ross tallied the first touchdown for the Carnegie boys from the 40 yard line and not long afterwards shot around end for the second marker of the game. Larocco's fine kicking, Ross' ghost-like running and the great tackling of Perret were the features of the game. The Carnegie team is out to capture the junior grid title.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

Fans who journey to Jolly Bowl next Monday night will see another hot skirmish when Jimmy Hackley and Maxie Strub battle over the 10-round route. Hackley, who started on the Pacific coast and is now going good, may stow the Erie lightweight away.

He fought Eddie Anderson a 12-round draw, has whipped Jimmy Reed, who is going good, and we might say better than at any time during his career; walloped Johnny O'Keefe and scared the wits out of Ray Alvis when Hackley nailed Herrera at Indianapolis.

The semi-final succ is a fistie plum and it ought to be as good as any main bout that has been at the bowl. Had the eye of Jack Hernandez not been cut here in his bout with Johnny Kusic, he might have beat Kusic, but he didn't, and that's that.

He is going to take on Ray Van Hook, the Detroit lightweight kid, who set Cleveland fans on fire when he met and punched holes in Charlie Pinto, the Syracuse, N. Y., lightweight. They will weigh 155 and go six rounds. There'll be no idle time between them.

The last night football game is out of the way and Saturday afternoon New Castle high and Westinghouse will clash at Franklin field. Fans will have a chance to tell which kind of football they like best. Night football has one advantage, and that is that many fans who cannot get away in day can do so at night.

We had Frankie Van, Cleveland referee, as our bowl guest a few nights ago. Remember when Van boxed and beat Gus Renz at the Opera House? Van worked the two Risks-Rocco fight and will be third man when Meloney and Risks clash late this month.

Sam Butler, president of the Youngstown commission, also was a visitor. Mr. Butler attends practically all of the contests. Don Moore, the big four man from Pittsburgh, was nipped the embargo and one young lady, came all the way from Pittsburgh to see it.

Firpo lost the decision, but the truth is he was not fighting a middleweight, but a light-heavyweight. Firpo violated the agreement and instead of weighing 165, topped the beams at 164 1/2, which would send him, after eating, into the ring weighing about 175 pounds.

Had the fight been scheduled any other place it would not have gone on. Jimmy Dunn was advised of salt and paprika and take.

Philips' weight, but replied, "He is a damn heavy weight, but we won't let the show be stopped. Tell Philo to get in and fight. Father's no middle-weight fighter!"

Yesterday efforts were made to rematch them. At Fairman, manager, refused to let Firpo do less than 165 pounds. Jimmy Dunn, who was in Pittsburgh with Joey Goodman, remarked "If I had been here, weight or no weight, Firpo would have won."

He may and he may not, but the fact remains that he got the worst of it on the weight. Agreements are made to be kept, and no little man can beat a good big man. When Firpo beat a bout with Billy Jones at 165, Philo's manager turned it down. That's a horse of a different color.

Breakfast foods made delicious puddings when the left-overs are used with milk, molasses or coconut, just as bread pudding is made.

BAKED EGG PLANT
Eggplant is delicious when baked. Cut in squares, put in layers in a buttered dish and season with butter, salt and paprika and bake.

TELLS OF VISIT TO FIJI ISLANDS

Rev. G. S. Bennett Talks Of Tour At Meeting Of Kiwanis Club

In a most interesting and informative manner, Rev. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church of this city told members of the local Kiwanis club of his visit to the Fiji Islands in the Pacific which he made some time ago.

Eighty-three per cent of the inhabitants are members of churches, most of which are Wesleyan Methodists, because a group of missionaries from England known as the Wesleyans that first braved the dangers and fought to convert the natives.

There is quite a contrast between the Fiji islands of years ago and that of the present day. The minister recalled in a most vivid way some of the heinous and peculiar customs which the natives once engaged in. But things are different today, mainly he said, because of the advent of Christianity.

Rev. Bennett explained that it is apparent that religion has been the chief force in bringing about the vast change that has overcome the people.

The speaker told of the government of the country. A governor appointed by the Crown, for England still controls the land, is overseer of everything while an executive council and an advisory board upon which the natives have representatives, assist him.

All kinds of tropical fruits are raised there, bananas, lemons and others. The rainfall averages 130 inches a year and has much to do with the fertility of the ground.
